Comparing Buddhist and Hindu Literature

ABOUT THE READING  Buddhism was founded in India about 500 BC. and is based on the teachings of the philosopher Gautama Buddha. Hinduism is considered to be the world’s oldest living religion. It originated in India approximately 4,000 years ago. About 80 percent of Indians are Hindus.

BUDDHIST LITERATURE
The Dhammapada: Sayings of Buddha
Translated by Thomas Cleary

The Dhammapada is a collection of Buddha’s sayings that have been passed down by his followers. It teaches morality and encourages the development of self-mastery and strength of character.

As you read the passage below, pay attention to how good and bad are contrasted.

1. Everything has mind in the lead, has mind in the forefront, is made by mind. If one speaks or acts with a corrupt mind, misery will follow, as the wheel of a cart follows the foot of the ox.

2. Everything has mind in the lead, has mind in the forefront, is made by mind. If one speaks or acts with a pure mind, happiness will follow, like a shadow that never leaves.

15. One who does evil sorrows in this world and after death, sorrowful in both. Seeing the pollution of one’s own actions, one is tormented by sorrow and grief.

16. One who does good is happy in this world and after death, happy in both. Seeing the purity of one’s own actions, one is happy, most joyful.

HINDU LITERATURE

Bhagavad Gita
Translated by Stephen Mitchell

Bhagavad Gita means “The Song of the Blessed One.” Although no one is certain of when the text was written, some scholars date it as early as the fifth century.

As you read the passage below, pay attention to how the statements express the Hindu philosophy of life.

THE BLESSED LORD SAID:

Fearlessness, purity of heart, persistence in the yoga of knowledge, generosity, self-control, nonviolence, gentleness, candor, integrity, disengagement, joy in the study of the scriptures, compassion for all beings, modesty, patience, a tranquil mind, dignity, kindness, courage, a benevolent, loving heart—these are the qualities of men born with divine traits, Arjuna.

Hypocrisy, insolence, anger, cruelty, ignorance, conceit—these, Arjuna, are the qualities of men with demonic traits.

The divine traits lead to freedom;
the demonic, to suffering and bondage.
But do not be concerned, Arjuna:
the traits you have are divine.

ANALYZING LITERATURE

1. Main Idea  What is the main topic of both of these passages?

2. Critical Thinking: Making Comparisons  What similarities do you see in these two passages? What are the differences?

3. Activity  Imagine that you are traveling in Ancient India. Design a postcard and then write at least five interesting sentences about your travels. You may describe the ancient structures you’ve seen, name some important people, and mention something about the culture.
Biography Candragupta Maurya

WHAT DID YOU LEARN?
1. Maurya was said to have ruled India much like Alexander the Great.
2. Indica described what life was like in India during this time. It may have included details about civilian lives, legal and state doctrines, and even Mauryan's practices.

Biography Kautilya

WHAT DID YOU LEARN?
1. The Arthashastra was a guidebook that discussed politics, and how to lead. It also dealt with philosophy.
2. Kautilya's thoughts and opinions were probably applicable to life in the time in which he lived, however today things are very different. I do not think politicians would be able to follow the Arthashastra, as modern government is very different from what I have learned about history.
