Introductions

- ◆ Play name game using adjectives. Students will also use alliterations.
 - “My name is Mrs. Looney and I am lovely.”
 - “My name is Lisa Looney and I loathe loud lizards.”
 - Students might need to use dictionary to find an adjective that begins with the first letter of the student’s name.

LEARNING TARGETS:

- I can define the word "alliteration."
- I can use alliteration in a sentence.

According to the Merriam-Webster dictionary, alliteration is:

"the use of words that begin with the same sound near one another."

For example, "Lisa Looney likes loud lizards."

- Author's perspective
- Theme

Our Classroom Themes:

- All is well.
- Wave your flag!
- We are in the world to change the world.
-Kathe Kollwitz
- Dream it. Be it.

LEARNING TARGETS:

- I can explain what a theme is.
- I can create a list of themes found in the song "Wave Your Flag."

Theme:

- “A theme is a lesson or message that an author wants readers to understand. Paying attention to main events and details- such as how characters act, treat others, or respond to challenges- can help you figure out the themes of stories and plays,” page 69, Curriculum Associates, 2014.
- We will have several themes that will guide our learning this year.

Attendance

- “Here.”
- “Presente.”
- “Nipo.”
- Absent: “Hayupo.”

- Habari za asubuhi?
 - Nzuri, tu.
 - Salama.
 - Salama. Na wewe, je?

LEARNING TARGET:

- I can write a heading using the MLA format.

LEARNING TARGET:

“You Should Have Been There”

- Don't miss out on all the fun we will have this year. If you don't do your work, you will miss out.
- This is going to be the best year of your life.
- Play Bill Harley's “You Should Have Been There.”

Alliteration

- Write a silly sentence using alliteration.
- How many parts of speech do you remember? Label as many parts of speech as you remember.

How are these subjects interconnected?
