Steps

1. Use your headings and text features to find your section in the textbook.

2. Read your section.

3. Write five facts about your section. (You may share ideas with your group members, but everyone must fill in their own chart.)

4. Individually, rank the three that you think are most important (1 being most important, 3 being least important).

5. With your group, share why those three are the most important.

6. For circle time, decide:

   Option 1: Everyone will choose a different fact to share.

   Option 2: Have a spokesperson share one fact for the group.